(Cause of Nyberg Historic House Fire Remains Under Investigation)

The investigation into the cause of last night's fire in the Nyberg Historic House remains on hold due to concerns about the structural integrity of the fire-ravaged and water soaked structure. Much of the concern stems from the fact that the roof has literally collapsed onto the second floor. Having individuals working underneath that hazard is not an option at this time. Officials are currently assessing what actions need to be taken to ensure the structural integrity of the building to facilitate individuals safely entering the structure. One option being discussed is to bring heavy equipment to the scene and remove the roof and portions of the building that present a safety concern.
